

NOTES ON CONTRIBUTORS

Ardak Abdiraimova is a PhD of Historical Sciences, Associate Professor, Head of History of Kazakhstan and Social and Humanitarian Disciplines Department in M. Tynyshpaev Kazakh Academy of Transports & Communications. As a specialist in social and demographic processes in Kazakhstan and authored works on social and gender history. She also published more than 70 scientific and educational papers.

Phone: +77012229409; E-mail: ardak.abdiraimova@gmail.com

Nurgul Bekzhanova is a master student at the Kazakh National University named after Al-Farabi, Faculty of History, Archeology and Ethnology. She graduated with honours in "History" by the Shakarim State University of Semey (Kazakhstan). During her studies, she took part in various republican competitions and Olympiads. She is a laureate of the "Alashtyn Ak Zholy" republican competition and the "Best student" in 2019. She is interested in social and political history, gender history.

Phone: +77751553472; E-mail: nurgul.b.98@mail.ru

Vlad Gafița is Lecturer at the Faculty of History and Geography at Stefan cel Mare University of Suceava (Romania). He is specialized in modern and contemporary history, teaching disciplines such as Modern and Contemporary Political History. In 2007 he ended his doctoral thesis on a topic associated with the history of Romanian nationalism in Bukovina: Iancu Flondor (1865-1924) and the Romanians' national movement in Bukovina. He is currently dealing with the theoretical origins of the extreme right-wing totalitarianism during the interwar period. As a result of his research on this topic, Vlad Gafița published two books: The Ideological Origins of Right-Wing Totalitarianism and Right-wing Totalitarianism – from Nationalism to Fascism.

Phone: +40761815192; E-mail: vladgafita@usm.ro

Mykhailo Hrebeniuk is the Chief of the Foreign Languages Education and Research Centre, at the National Defence University of Ukraine, named after Ivan

Cherniakhovskiy, the Ministry of Defence of Ukraine. His PhD thesis analysed the Anglo-American historiography of the Gulf War 1990-1991. His main scientific interests include the history of contemporary regional conflicts, East-European international relations, and modern warfare from the second part of the XX century.

Phone: +380442481078; E-mail: mykhailo.hrebeniuk@nuou.org.ua

Valerii Hrytsiuk is an Associate Professor and Leading Researcher of the Research Centre for Military History at the National Defence University of Ukraine named after Ivan Cherniakhovskiy, the Ministry of Defence of Ukraine. His PhD thesis was on the Scythian military warfare. His main research interests include the military history of Ukraine from the ancient time till the 21st century. He focuses on the war, martial art, and military organization of the Scythian kingdom 7th century BC - 4th century AD; strategic, front and military operations of the Second World War 1939-1945, Russian-Ukrainian armed confrontation at the beginning of the XXI century. He published over 200 scientific materials, monographs, and 10 textbooks.

Phone: +380981092544; E-mail: skifwo@email.ua

Roman Khardel is a lieutenant colonel and postgraduate student at Hetman Petro Sahaidachny National Army Academy, Lviv (Ukraine). He is currently working on a PhD dissertation titled Historical Factor in the Russian-Ukrainian Information Warfare.

Phone: +380960743972; E-mail: spantamano@ukr.net

Hülya Kınık works as a Research Assistant in the Department of International Relations at Karadeniz Technical University, Turkey. She received her BA degree from Eskişehir Osmangazi University in 2012; her MA degree from Karadeniz Technical University in 2015. Her PhD dissertation explores the effects of Rising Powers on the international system, mainly focusing on Turkey.

Phone: +904623778786; E-mail: hulya.ercan@ktu.edu.tr

Oleksandra Melnyk holds a PhD in Historical Sciences. She is an Associate Professor at the Department of Humanities in Hetman Petro Sahaidachny National Army Academy, Lviv (Ukraine). Her research interests focus on the history of the Ukrainian Army.

Phone: +380678514629; E-mail: immlviv@gmail.com

Iryna Patlashynska is a Candidate of Political Sciences and Associate Professor of International Communications and Political Department, Faculty of International Relations at the Lesya Ukrainka Volyn National University (Lutsk, Ukraine). Her research interests include the international public law, international organizations; peacekeeping operations as an institution in international relations; peacekeeping operations in Ukraine. She teaches such subjects as International Information Law, Intellectual Property, Theory and Practice of Peacekeeping.

Phone: +380503398022; E-mail: iryna.patlashynska@vnu.edu.ua

Gabriela Prelipcean is a Professor and PhD coordinator at the Stefan cel Mare University of Suceava. She holds a PhD in Economic Sciences/Management from the Academy of Economic Studies of Bucharest, an NEC Fellowships, financed by the New Europe College (NEC), Institute for Advanced Study, Bucharest, Romania, and a postdoctoral Fulbright Scholarship in Economic Sciences at Elizabethtown College, Pennsylvania. She teaches several courses, having a wide experience – as a researcher – on topics of Regional Economics, International Economics, Economics of Extreme Events (assessing, managing and financing extreme events), Financial and Economic Crisis. She has received many awards, fellowships and grants as a project manager, and coordinated large teams and complex projects funded at a national and European level.

Phone: +40744571199; E-mail: prelipceang@usm.ro

Ștefan Purici is currently the Vice-Rector for International Relations at Stefan cel Mare University of Suceava, and a Full Professor in the Department of Human, Social and Political Sciences, Faculty of History and Geography. He is also a researcher and a staff member of the Bucovina Institute of Romanian Academy. His scientific interests include the History of Bukovina, International Relations, European and Euro-Atlantic Integration. He is a contributor to various international collections of articles and author of several books, studies and articles published in Romania, Poland, Italy, Germany, Ukraine. He conducted national and international projects and was involved in European Academic Networks. He is editor-in-chief at “Codrul Cosminului” (Suceava) and “Current Issues of Humanities and History of Medicine” (Chernivtsi), and member of the editorial board at “Analele Bucovinei”, “Glasul Bucovinei”, “Journal of European Studies and International Relations”, and “Haemus Journal”.

Phone: +40740869075; E-mail: stefanp@atlas.usv.ro

Paul D. Quinlan earned his PhD in History from Boston College in 1974. He is currently an Emeritus Professor and teaches Eastern Europe and Russian history courses in graduate school. Since 1993, he has been an Associate at the Davis Center for Russian and Eurasian Studies at Harvard University. His primary expertise is modern Romania and Moldova. Over the years, he presented papers at numerous conferences in both the United States and Europe, including many in Romania. He authored four books, including Clash over Romania: British and American Policies toward Romania, 1938-1947 (the Romanian version, Ciocnire deasupra României: Politica anglo-americană față de România, 1938-1947), and The Playboy King: Carol II of Romania (the Romanian version, Regele Playboy: Carol al II-lea al României). He published over two dozen articles in scholarly journals and chapters in books. He remains active in professional organizations, including serving as President of The Society for Romanian Studies, and receiving various grants and awards over the years.

Phone: +14017382396; E-mail: pq2729@cox.net

Akylbek Sarsenbaev is an Associate Professor at the Department of the History of Kazakhstan and Social and Humanitarian Disciplines. He wrote more than 40 scientific papers and study guides. He is interested in the problems of historical sources such as genealogy, memoirs and notes. His research experience also includes the modern history of Kazakhstan and political situations in Central Asia.

Phone: +77759749377; E-mail: a.sarsenbayev@kazatk.kz

Pavlo Shchypanskyi holds a PhD in Military Science. He is Professor and Deputy University's Commandant for Science, the National Defence University of Ukraine named after Ivan Cherniakhovskyi, the Ministry of Defence of Ukraine. His main scientific interests include national security and defence and strategic defence planning. He is also actively researching preconditions and development of the armed conflict in the East of Ukraine.

Phone: +380988094996; E-mail: znunp@nuou.org.ua

Antonina Shuliak is a Doctor of Political Sciences, Professor of the International Communications and Political is Department. She is Dean of the International Relations Faculty of the Lesya Ukrainka Volyn National University (Lutsk, Ukraine); the Cabinet of Ministers of Ukraine scholarship holder (twice) (scholarship for young scientists); Editor-in-Chief of International Relations, Public Communications and Regional Studies Journal (Lutsk, Ukraine), thematic editor of the Nicolaus Copernicus University History and Politics Journal (Torun, Poland), and a member of the scientific council of the “Annales Universitatis Pedagogice Cracoviensis. Studia de Securitate” Journal (Krakow, Poland). Her research interests include information and analytical activities in international relations, foreign policy is, political consulting, analytical expertise. She authored more than 160 publications.

Phone: +380955237596; E-mail: antonina.mytko@vnu.edu.ua

Nazarii Shuliak is an Assistant Professor of the International Communications and Political Department of, Faculty of International Relations, the Lesya Ukrainka Volyn National University (Lutsk, Ukraine); Fellow of the University of Warsaw (Program of the Government of the Republic of Poland for young scientists from Eastern Europe, as well as Central Asia and the Caucasus). He was awarded a scholarship by the President of Ukraine. His research aims at gaining a deep understanding of the information warfare, information support of international relations, and information hygiene.

Phone: +380997783555; E-mail: nazarii.shuliak@vnu.edu.ua

Marcela Şlusarciuc is an Assistant Professor at the Stefan cel Mare University of Suceava. She holds a BA degree in Economics and Law. Her PhD thesis focused on the economic development of cross-border areas. She was also a postdoctoral researcher of the Institute for World Economy (Romanian Academy) and a Fulbright postdoctoral researcher at the Bloomington Indiana University in the field of Institutional is. Her teaching portfolio covers several disciplines such as Political Institutions, International Governance, Comparative Policies, European Institutions and Policies, World and European Economy, Structures and Programmes of Cross-border Cooperation in the 21st Century, Euroregions and the Cross-border Cooperation, European Neighbourhood Policy. Her scientific results appeared in more than 20 articles and a book, mostly from an inter-and trans-disciplinary perspective in the areas of Cross-border cooperation, Economics, Project Management, Law or Administrative Sciences.

Phone: +40746194316; E-mail: slusarciuc.marcela@usv.ro

Eugenia Vozniuk is a Candidate of Political Sciences, Associate Professor of the International Relations and Regional Studies Department, Faculty of International Relations at the Lesya Ukrainka Volyn National University (Lutsk, Ukraine). Her research interests include information terrorism; foreign policy of Ukraine and other countries. She authored more than 70 publications (30 publications in foreign languages, one individual monograph, co-author of several collective monographs, etc).

Phone: +380958654410; E-mail: voznyuk.yevhenija@vnu.edu.ua

Vitalii Vyzdryk is a Professor at the Department of Humanities in Hetman Petro Sahaidachny National Army Academy, Lviv (Ukraine) and holds a doctorate in Historical Sciences. His area of research relates to the evolution of the Ukrainian national movement and Ukrainian statehood.

Phone: +380673000291; E-mail: v.vyzdryk05@gmail.com

Roza Zharkynbayeva is a Professor of the Faculty of History, Archaeology and Ethnology, and the Chair of World History, Historiography, and Source Studies of Al-Farabi Kazakh National University. She has research experience in the latest socio-political history of the Central Asian region, in particular, the study of differences in dynamics and the nature of social change, the problems of the social security aspects; relationship/interdependence between demographic and modernization processes; the gender dimension of social policy, the formation processes and capacity development of civil society in Central Asia and its role in the further modernization of the region. She is a member of several international research networks such as the International Research Association of Institutions of Advanced Gender Studies (RINGS), the Russian Association of Women History Researchers, and the Association for Slavic, East European, & Eurasian Studies (ASEEES). She is an author and co-author of over 160 scientific articles and books.

Phone: +77075250332; E-mail: Roza.zharkynbayeva@gmail.com